

We will not rest until your business is secure.

Spokane, WA

Q6 web site of the day: Anthrax answers

Oct. 19 - This page contains recent web sites profiled during our Q6 web site of the day segment.

Anthrax answers

October 19 - Many of your questions about bioterrorism can be answered online. And now one of our most trusted consumer groups is providing answers to those questions.

Consumer Reports' section on bio-threats is our Q6 web site of the day. The site breaks down the basics about anthrax, including how the different types of the disease affect you.

There's also a section explaining the risks of taking antibiotics when you don't need them. If you'd like to check this site out, click here.

Mr. Showbiz

October 18 - If you want to keep up with the latest in the world of showbiz, just head to our Q6 web site of the day.

Mr. Showbiz is a place online to find out the latest news on movie releases, DVD's, and celebrity interviews and gossip. You'll find a headlines section with the most recent Hollywood news, and another spot with pictures of your favorite celebrities

There's also links where you can buy the latest movies and DVD's online, along with reviews of which ones are worth the money, and which one's aren't. To check out the site, click here.

Flag Across America

October 17 - Our Q6 web site of the day features a patriotic display that's currently making it's way across America, and you can follow its progress, online.

The Flag Across America run features runners carrying old glory all across the United States. The runners started in Boston back on the 11th. They're making their way to Los Angeles.

There's also a timeline for the rest of the journey, although the flag won't be making its way through Washington.

If you'd like to check this site out, click here.

Rumors of war

October 16 - As the days passed after the September 11 tragedy, more and more rumors about what happened and why started to emerge. But what's real and what isn't? You can find out with our Q6 web site of the day.

This web site tells you whether the rumors are true or not. That includes the one about another attack on Halloween, which has been proved false, and a rumor about stolen moving vans. The site also explains that Nostradamus wasn't as good at forecasting the future as you might have heard. For more, click here.

Cold or flu?

October 15 - If you can't figure out whether you have a cold or the flu, this website has your answer.

Health Scout has a mini checklist of your symptoms. Like, "If you have a cough, what kind is it?"

Then the system lets you know what illness you may have, the likelihood, and what you should do to treat it.

Click here to go there.

Printable flags

October 12 - If you can't find an American flag at your local store, our Q6 web site of the day can help you out.

The site has different flags you can print right from your computer. If you have a color printer, you can print it right out, or you can print one you can color in. The Pledge of Allegiance is also posted on the site, in languages like French, Spanish and German. There's also a link to a site with flag etiquette too. To see the site, click here.

Most wanted terrorists

October 11 - The FBI has now created a special web site listing the most wanted terrorists. It's our Q6 web site of the day.

Log onto the site and you'll see pictures of the most wanted terrorists, including Osama Bin Laden. You can read about their descriptions, and their latest known whereabouts. There's a link to the FBI web site too. Click